

The Institute for Advanced Study

presents

Gender & Social Justice

A Branigin Lecture

<http://ias.indiana.edu/branigin>

Cynthia Enloe

Research Professor at Clark University, Massachusetts

on

The Geopolitics of Your Bathtub: Why Who Does Your Housework Matters

Cleaning someone else's home is intimate paid work, but in today's world it is often highly globalized labor. Cynthia Enloe will describe how millions of migrant women who do domestic housework have created worker rights organizations, dramatically altering the political and gendered landscape. This world of domestic workers becomes a lens to larger geopolitical realities and inequalities.

October 13th
6 pm
Global & International Studies Building
Auditorium
Room GA-0001

Co-sponsored by the Center for the Study of Global Change and the Department of Gender Studies

